

Outstanding JUNE STRAWBERRIES

JUNE BEARING

(Midseason). That illustration you see at the left is an actual color reproduction of Jumbo—and these Strawberries taste as good as they look. Jumbo is deep red all the way through . . . it rated high in university freezing tests and it is one of the heaviest yielding Strawberries known. Plan a part of your garden for Jumbo.

JUMBO POSTPAID PRICE LIST:

25 for $2.50; 50 for $3.95; 100 for $6.50; 250 for $13.50; 500 for $25.00.

JUNE BEARING

June Bearing (Midseason). One grower averaged 13,200 quarts per acre on three acres a year ago. Some Strawberries! In addition to its high production, Paymaster rated high in university freezing tests. The berries are firm and have a fine sweet flavor.

POLAR QUEEN

June Bearing (Early). Here is another of the newer Strawberry varieties. You folks looking for a good Strawberry for freezing will find Polar Queen an excellent choice. The berries are dark red inside and out and are long conic to long wedge in shape. It's an early Strawberry.

PARISH PERFECT

(Plant Pat. No. 1442). June Bearing (Early midseason). Some folks want the Dunlap Strawberry and here is one like Dunlap only better. It is larger, firmer, sweeter, more productive and a better freezing Strawberry than Dunlap. So, if you like Dunlap then try Parish Perfect in your garden. It's a patented plant.

CRIMSON FLASH

Plant Pat. App. For

June Bearing. VERY EARLY! Now—it can be told. For two years we have only whispered about this new variety because it was short in supply. Now—we have enough plants to offer in small quantities. Be one of the first to plant Crimson Flash. Here's a Strawberry that is from four to six days earlier than Premier . . . so if you want a very early berry choose Crimson Flash. What's more, it has excellent keeping qualities on the plant. Under a variety of weather conditions from rainy to sunny weather the berries have kept as long as ten days on the plant. The berries are large to very large and dark red. A good Strawberry for freezing.

Use RED RICH® as a Garden Border

Red Rich is perfect for a Strawberry patch or in a Pyramid garden, but a most attractive idea is to use them in a decorative plan as a garden border or edging. Red Rich is a husky, bushy plant that stools up tall and full. Its dark green foliage, bright blossoms and attractive berries make them an exciting and interesting planting idea when used this way. Plant them about twelve inches apart in a garden border.
